

Plain-language workflow

A huge molecule is like a big school.
This project studies one small classroom of important electron rooms.

We repeat measurements (shots) to estimate energy, like repeating a science experiment.